LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

EBENSBURG AND CRESSON RAILROAD. On and after Monday, April 19, 1867, trains on this road will run as follows:

LEAVE EBENSBURG. At 6.05 A. M., connecting with Day Express East and Phila. Express West. At 7.15 P. M., connecting with Phila. Ex. East and Mail West. LEAVE CRESSON. At 9.24 A. M., on or departure of Phila. Express West. At 8.40 P. M., on or departure of Phila. Express East.

EDITORIALS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Another poem from the pen of "Linnet" will grace our columns next week. The winter term of the public schools of this borough commences on Monday next. Typhoid fever and dysentery is said to be prevailing to a considerable extent in Hollidaysburg.

The cornerstone of a new M. E. Church was laid with appropriate ceremonies, at Duncansville, Blair county, on Thursday. The Carrolltown picnic, held on Tuesday, was in every respect a most enjoyable affair. We expect a full report of it for next issue.

Mr. Thomas Snyder, of Huntingdon, had his collar bone broken, on the 14th instant, while attempting to couple cars at Tyrone. The publisher employed in the Juniata Iron Company's rolling mill, at Hollidaysburg, are on a strike for an increase of wages. They received seven dollars per ton and demand eight.

The Pennsylvania State Fair is being held in Pittsburgh this week, and quite a number of our citizens have wended their way thither. The display is said to be unusually large and interesting.

The barn of Mr. John Wheeler, of Rayne township, Indiana county, was struck by lightning, on the 7th inst., and with its contents destroyed. The loss is estimated at $2,000. Where there is so much ryme there must be some lightning.

A little son of Mr. Thomas Boyd, of Bolivar, Indiana county, attempted to get on a wagon loaded with fire-logs, while it was in motion, on the 10th inst., and fell under the wheels, one of which passed over his head and neck, killing him almost instantly.

Mr. Alex. McVicker, of Cambria township, has placed us under obligations for a present of eight or ten exceedingly large and luscious apples, of what he calls the French pippin species. Mr. McV. has about twenty bushels of these fine apples, which he designs offering for sale to our citizens.

Notwithstanding the stringent rules adopted by Governor Geary and Attorney General Brewster, at the opening of the new State administration, the Governor is dealing out pardons to every convicted radical that asks for one. All a convicted negro-lover has to say to procure his liberty is, "I ask your pardon, Governor."

The Johnstown Tribune says that nominating men like John Hickman, of Chester, is "suggestive of the good old times, when all parties vied with each other in nominating their best men for office." A radical paper in John's own county says he was nominated by "fraud and corruption." Is that the "good old times?"

We regret to announce that our young friend, Wm. E. Hutchinson, publisher of the Alleghenian, was prostrated by a very severe hemorrhage of the lungs, on Thursday night last, from the effects of which he is still suffering. Although a serious and insidious disease, we trust that Billy will not fall a victim to its ravages.

John Porter, Esq., of Susquehanna township, whose card as a volunteer candidate for Jury Commissioner has been in our columns for some weeks, has withdrawn from the canvass. We owe Mr. Porter an apology for not mentioning the matter sooner, as he notified us of the fact immediately after the Radical convention.

A serious riot occurred among a number of coal miners employed at Penn station, Westmoreland county, on Saturday evening week, during the progress of which quite a number of the participants were pretty severely injured. A German named John Miller, who took no part in the melee, was attacked and so brutally beaten that he is not expected to recover.

A. J. Rhey, Esq., better known as Jack Rhey, was brought from Clearfield county to his home in this place, on Thursday night last, in a very precarious state of health resulting from an affection of the lungs. He is now, we are pleased to say, in a fair way of regaining comparative health, and we hope the watchful care of a mother and sisters will soon accomplish his complete recovery.

Our genial friend, Reese J. Lloyd, who for several months acted as deputy for Postmaster E. J. Mills, at this place, has recently been appointed to that position, the latter gentleman having sent in his resignation to the department. Reese is one of the most jovial and accommodating gentlemen this side of sundown, and we know of no man among us better fitted for such a post of trust and usefulness.

A man named Samuel Reed, employed at the saw works of Messrs. Johnson & Baker, at Lestrabe, Pa., was caught between the bumpers of two cars, which were shoved together by persons who were not aware that he was engaged in painting one of the bumpers, on Saturday last, and so terribly crushed about the chest that he died almost instantly. The deceased was about twenty-eight years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

A social reunion of all persons connected in any way with what was once the old Allegheny Portage Railroad, or at least all embraced in that catalogue who see fit to attend, is to take place at the hotel of Mr. James Riffl, on the Summit, on Tuesday next, October 1st. It is expected that not less than two or three hundred persons will participate in this social gathering, and a most interesting and agreeable interchange of sentiment and friendly greeting will doubtless characterize the occasion.

Grand movements are on foot in several cities and large towns to add adjoining districts to Boston, New York and Pittsburgh lists of doing what Philadelphia has done. Johnstown proposes to follow suit by adding the neighboring boroughs and villages to the "mother" borough, and it is suggested that Ebensburg, having already swallowed Moorestown, on the North, should now "swallow" Benals on the West. The project is feasible, as there is nothing but a strip of woods between them.

The alleged rape committed in Susquehanna township is said to have been the crime of a white man. We thus explain at the instance of the Johnstown Tribune, whose editor was "not satisfied" with our former notice of the outrage. This crime has become so common among negroes of late that unless the word white is used in detailing occurrences of the kind, "American citizens of African descent" are very apt to get the credit (?) of all these black offences. We trust the Tribune will give our explanation in justice to its political friends.

RESORT VISITORS.

During the past week or two Ebensburg has been favored with quite a number of visitors. A portion of them were here on business, many of them for recreation, and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Cambria's favorite, Gen. H. D. Foster, of Greensburg, spent a portion of the second week of Court with us, and was engaged in the trial of an important cause. His friends, and their name is legion, were glad to greet him once more in the Mountain village.

Hon. L. W. Hall, the distinguished Senator from the Blair district, paid us a flying visit during Court week. His defeat for re-nomination has not changed the suavity of his manners nor impaired his fine social qualities. He seems superior to the caprices of caucuses and conferences.

Hon. John Scott, Hon. S. S. Blair and Hon. Samuel Calvin were also in attendance at Court. During the last week of the session our friend from the city of "Brotherly Love," Mr. Theo. M. Apple, presented his manly form and honest countenance in our midst. He is a good Apple—and to the core.

We had the pleasure, also, of an interview with Asa H. Fisk, Esq., of Fallen Timber, and while away an agreeable evening in converse with him. Then came our versatile friend from the Smoky City, Mr. Wm. C. Murphy. To represent the extensive house of which he is a member is certainly no child's play, yet he does it to perfection. We hope his raids among us may all be as successful as that of Herr Breitmair.

And last, though far as possible from least, our warm personal friend, Mr. Thomas McKiernan, of Altoona, "came among us," and we trust that we did not fail to make his brief visit an agreeable one. Mr. McK. is one of the most steadfast and hard working democrats in "Little Blair," and has a kindly heart and pleasing manners which win for him the good opinion of all classes. He speaks hopefully of the election of that "bulldog" boy," Jim Cramer, for Sheriff, and the success of Messrs. M. Intyre and Shultz, the democratic nominees for Senatorial honors in his district, to all of which we heartily respond so mote it be.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The Tyrone Bulletin, which, notwithstanding it found an error in the typography of the Johnstown (?) Freeman, is one of the very best local journals on our exchange list, serves up the following chapter of accidents in its last issue: On Monday last, Mr. William Mack, while standing at the post-office, was struck in the eye by a piece of stone which was knocked off by a man breaking stone on Juniata street. He was promptly attended to by Dr. Burkett, and although seriously injured, it is thought that the sight may be saved.

On the same day, Mr. Thompson, who is employed in the yard of the Branch Roads in this place, had his head caught between two cars while engaged in coupling them. Although severely injured he was saved by what almost seems a miracle. His hat was mashed flat between the projecting timbers and held there, and the blood was forced out of his eyes and ears by the pressure, yet, strange to say, he was not badly hurt.

On Tuesday, Miss Sally Cammerer, an employee in the Herald office, in this place, had her left hand caught in the printing press, severing three fingers completely from the hand. Miss Cammerer has the sympathy of the public in her dreadful misfortune. She remarked at the moment of the accident, whilst looking at her crushed and bleeding hand, that she would not care if it were not for her poor old mother, of whom she was the main support.

A man by the name of John Wolf, of Striking Valley, was shot through the hand on Wednesday, whilst attempting to maintain near the Big Pitt. He had his hand on the muzzle of his rifle, and in crossing a log the trigger struck a limb. The ball passed through the centre of his hand, crushing his hand badly. Dr. Gemmill, of Altoona, was telegraphed to, who promptly attended.

On the same day Charley Houser, hostler at the Central Hotel, was kicked on the leg by a vicious horse, injuring him badly.

FATAL RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.—An excursion train of ten cars collided with a freight train on the Canadigua branch of the Northern Central Railway, on the 18th inst., resulting in the death of two persons and the serious injury of several others. The accident was occasioned by the engineer of the excursion train mistaking the signal to stop for an ahead signal, and rounding a curve in the road, ran into the freight train as stated. The engineer and fireman saved themselves by leaping from the engine. Mr. A. E. Tammany, of Lock Haven, brother of Mrs. F. A. Shoemaker, of this place, was one of the victims of this sad catastrophe. He was a young man of exceeding promise and possessed of the most endearing qualities of both mind and heart, and being the only remaining brother, may well be considered that his sudden and terrible death has brought the most poignant grief to the hearts of his stricken relatives and friends. Mr. T. was studying law in Lock Haven, and was on a visit to friends in Elmira, N. Y., at the time of the sad occurrence.

BASE BALL MATCH.—We deem it due to our base ball friends in Loretto and Chest Springs to publish the following score of a game played at the former place, on Saturday last, between the Elm Club of Loretto and the Ionian Club of Chest Springs:

Table with 4 columns: Name, R., O., E. Rows include Ivory, P., Eggle, C., Chute, S., Charles, Lb., J. McDonald, 2b., Perry, 3b., Ridland, J., W. McDonald, cf., Wagner, rf.

BUNS EACH EVENING. 1st. 2d. 3d. 4th. 5th. 6th. Ionian, 13 14 14 5 3 20-69. Elms, 7 5 6 0 3 5-29.

Umpire—E. R. Dunnegan, of the Mountaineer club of Ebensburg. Scorers—J. W. Cole for Ionians; Wm. Todd for Elms.

The centre of the United States has been fixed at Columbus, Nebraska, ninety-six miles west of Omaha, and the centre of attraction in this part of the aforesaid United States has been fixed at the great mercantile emporium of J. M. Thompson, on High st., where goods of all kinds are sold at the lowest prices prevailing in the market.

OUR ADVICE.—We do not advise people who cannot afford the outlay, to bedeck themselves with jewelry, but we do advise those who can "stand the pressure" to buy only such articles of intrinsic worth as are comprised in the fine assortment for sale at the cheap store of C. T. Roberts, on Main street.

JOHN D. THOMAS has recently added a fine stock of custom-made Boots and Shoes for gents and youths to his assortment, and directs the attention of the public to the fact in our advertising columns to-day. It comprises the best Eastern made work, and cannot fail to give satisfaction.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, Sept. 23, 1867.

Dear Freeman—A bold robbery, was last week committed upon the premises of Sheriff Patterson, who keeps a hotel on Portage street, Conemaugh borough. The thieves entered by a back window, and passing to the cellar, took eleven loaves of bread and a quantity of other eatables. Next they paid their respects to the bar, and several bottles of four bottles of wine and several bottles of other liquors, and then passing to the dining room, helped themselves to a promiscuous lot of dishes, making their escape without alarming either family or boarders. The next morning a cream pitcher and several empty bottles were found in the rear of a shop shop, just opposite the house.

A previous night a daring attempt was made by three persons to rob the clothing store of Mr. Redelsholmer, on Clinton street. The burglars forced the cellar door by means of a crowbar, and passing up through a trap door in the floor, entered the hall of the dwelling connected with the store. A door led from this hall into the store room, and the burglars tried to force the fastenings by means of a "jimmy." The noise awakened Mr. R., and diving what was wrong, he quickly passed out at the front and closing the cellar doors, started for the police. The burglars in the meantime became alarmed, and whilst R. was after the police they gently unfastened the hall door and departed, leaving the iron bar in their hurried flight. No clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of either of the above, and from the frequent robberies which have recently occurred, it would naturally suggest itself to my mind that the police ought to try and ferret out the guilty parties. I think there can be little doubt that an organized band is at work, and unless soon detected we may expect to hear of more robberies.

The cellar of Mr. Feud was also robbed last week of several articles of small value. A young man named John Mauck, for some time past in the employ of T. G. Stewart & Co., as driver, was accidentally shot on Wednesday last. Mauck had received a short leave of absence for the purpose of visiting his parents, who reside in Bedford county, and persuading a fellow boarder to accompany him, they left here on Monday. On Wednesday they started to the woods on a gunning expedition, and whilst passing through some underbrush the gun of Mauck's companion was accidentally discharged by the hammer catching on a twig, and the contents passed through the arm and entered the side of young Mauck. This wound, though serious, will not prove fatal.

It is not generally known that the iron ore in our hills, which has been a great dependence to the rolling mill, has almost given out, and although from fifty to one hundred men have been searching all the mountains in the neighborhood during the past three years, no trace of any new veins that would justify working can be discovered. The failure to find any new leads of this kind in our hills, in this vicinity will prove a serious loss to the town, as there has been over five hundred men engaged in this branch of mining, whose occupation here will ere long be gone. A shaft for coal is being sunk near the Mill, a large vein of which is said to exist about sixty feet beneath the surface.

The sale of peaches this year in Johnstown has been immense, one firm alone having disposed of over 2,500 boxes. At least $12,000 worth have been sold in Johnstown during the season.

The ladies connected with the Catholic church design holding a Fair during the holidays, and extensive preparations are already being made. A knowledge of the "fair" ones having the matter in charge convinces me that no pains will be spared to make this one a success. A picnic was held at Conemaugh Station, on Saturday evening. Everything passed off to the great satisfaction of all present, and "Sku Bal" is only sorry that he did not hear of it in time to attend.

The first political gun of the season was fired here on Saturday by a lawyer from Allegheny, who spoke in the interests of the republican party, on the Public Square. A German orator was advertised upon the bills, but didn't make his appearance.

My young friend, Henry Frohlich, purchased the property of Mr. Metz, on Coal street, Conemaugh borough, the other day, for $700.

Geo. A. McLaugh, the prince of landlords, from St. Augustine, was in town to-day. George has the reputation of knowing how to keep a hotel, and your correspondent can bear witness to the fact that a more genial, whole-souled companion does not, to his knowledge, exist. I was pleased to learn that he is personally attending to S. B.'s interests in that ancient village.

The Juniatas failed to come to time on Friday last. Sku Bal tips his hat to W. R., of Portage, and several of your exchanges, who have been kind enough to notice him favorably. Sku Bal.

TIP BEST.—We have no hesitation in recommending the flour sold by H. A. Shoemaker & Co., as the best in the market, and we know whereof we speak. In fact, we might say we have no hesitation in recommending said firm to the patronage of all persons wishing to buy either clothing, dry-goods, groceries, furniture, or almost anything else, as they keep a complete stock and sell at the most moderate prices.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20, 1867.

Dear Freeman—Yesterday was named as the day for the reception of the Right Rev. Bishop Wood, on his return from Rome, but to the great disappointment of the immense concourse who assembled to welcome him, the good Bishop failed to arrive. The men, women and children congregated together on this occasion must have numbered over 20,000. The people, however, proceeded to the grounds of St. John's Orphan Asylum, the meeting place of St. John's Literary Institute and St. Charles's Beneficial Society, presided by the band of the former, leading the way, and notwithstanding the great heat of the day, the attendance on the grounds at West Philadelphia was both numerous and respectable. Undeveloped order, harmony and good will prevailed to an extent seldom witnessed by an assemblage so large and so mixed. In the enjoyment of rational amusement and social intercourse, aided by music and singing, and an occasional prayer, the artificial distinctions which divide and subdivide society, all appeared happy—many lingering in the splendid and capacious grounds, so well adapted to the purpose, till a late hour, reluctant to retire. In the course of the evening, the hours of which glided away almost unnoticed, there were several good musical and vocal performances, and the dancing was participated in with great zest by nearly all present. Good humor and good feeling prevailed, and all returned home well pleased with the manner in which the day had been spent. T. N. S.

MARRIED. FOSTER—GEIS.—At St. Vincent's Abbey, Westmoreland county, Pa., at 10 A. M., on Tuesday, 17th inst., by Rev. Valentin Lohmeyer, O. S. B., Mr. Andrew Foster and Miss Barbara, daughter of Mr. John Geis, all of Johans town.

Accompanying the above notice the writer of this received a most delicious cake, and frosted thereon were the characters, "Sku Bal." For this remembrance of your correspondent, in the midst of their great happiness, I cannot be sufficiently grateful.

It would be a work of supererogation to wish them well, for a wedded life so auspiciously began as theirs, cannot fail to call down heaven's choicest blessings on the estate upon which they have entered. The fair Barbara, possessing all the virtues which so much adorn the female character, and Ardy, noted for his integrity and moral worth—it was fitting that these two should be united 'mid the pious inspirations and religious surroundings of St. Vincent's Abbey. There stood the mirthful and jovial monk, whose lives had been passed in the shadow of God's altar. There, too, were the aged grand-parents, father and mother, relatives and friends, gathered together within that quiet cloister church, to witness the unostentatious contract which bound two willing hearts, and which death alone could sever.

Then followed the nuptial mass, with the swelling tones of the grand organ, under the skillful direction of Father Leontius, while the excellent abbey choir assisted with the responses, and during the solemn consecration, and again at the benediction, the newly married couple knelt at the steps of the altar and consecrated anew their lives to the services of their Creator, and then the priestly blessing was extended over their bowed forms, and the peculiarly grand ceremonies were concluded. Well might they rise with radiant countenances, after that solemnizing the sacred contract with religious fervor and piety.

After the ceremonies were concluded the party adjourned to the spacious dining room of the Abbey, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared, after which the day was spent in innocent hilarity, and in the evening the newly married couple took the train for a brief tour through the West.

Under his fostering care may Barbara's life be one of peace and happiness, and may Andy, having been a brave soldier in the war, ever prove to her that "The bravest are the tenderest, The loving are the daring."

MARRIED. FOSTER—GEIS.—At St. Vincent's Abbey, Westmoreland county, Pa., at 10 A. M., on Tuesday, 17th inst., by Rev. Valentin Lohmeyer, O. S. B., Mr. Andrew Foster and Miss Barbara, daughter of Mr. John Geis, all of Johans town.

Well might they rise with radiant countenances, after that solemnizing the sacred contract with religious fervor and piety.

After the ceremonies were concluded the party adjourned to the spacious dining room of the Abbey, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared, after which the day was spent in innocent hilarity, and in the evening the newly married couple took the train for a brief tour through the West.

Under his fostering care may Barbara's life be one of peace and happiness, and may Andy, having been a brave soldier in the war, ever prove to her that "The bravest are the tender
